WE LOVE ELECTRONICS 24/7/365!

Elektroniktidningen provides the Swedish electronics industry with qualified news, analyses and in-depth technical articles. We also run a news site in Finland.

The Swedish electronics industry*:

- Close to 4 000 companies with electronics as their core business.
- 70 000 people whereof 12 500 at Ericsson.
- A yearly aggregated revenue of more than 45 billion dollars and a healthy profitability.

*Source: Bisnode, 2019

Our readers work at world leading companies including Ericsson (telecom), ABB (robots and automation), Saab (defence), Volvo (trucks and cars), Scania (trucks), Autoliv (automotive safety), Veoneer (AD & ADAS), Bombardier (trains), Ctek (charging), IAR (tools), Flir (IR-cameras), Axis (security cameras) and Mycronic (manufacturing).

There are also EMS-companies, consultants and universities plus a number of young companies with global ambitions. Most buzz has Northvolts gigafactory created.

If you want to target engineers working as hardware and software designers, production engineers, test engineers, system developers, technical decision makers, purchasers and other professionals in the electronics industry, there's only one choice – Elektroniktidningen.

You get access to the Swedish electronics industry through our printed magazine, our web site, our daily newsletter and through our exclusive list rental.

We also have a news site in Finland.
